

WORKING WITH AV INTEGRATORS

To create amazing
Shared VR installations

Igloo is the Shared VR company

We take any VR or 360° content and put it in a shared immersive space anyone can use. It's a bit like stepping into a huge VR headset.

And, because groups of people can get inside, it's always a shared experience.

So, it's perfect for collaborative teamwork and training, as well as events and experiences.

A one-stop-shop for Shared VR

With an in-house team of 360° specialists, we design and create all our own technology.

This includes our own 360° software, media servers, interfaces, software cameras, projection rigs, structures and screens.

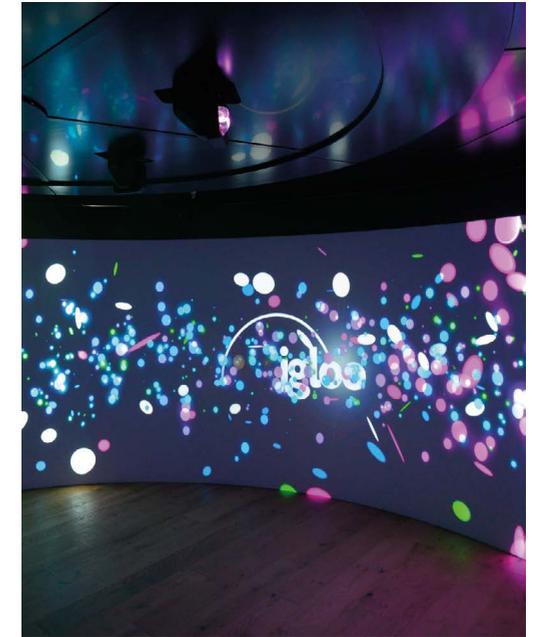

So you can get a fully-integrated solution from a single source.

You can choose from a standard set of Shared VR systems, ranging from 2.5-metres to 21-metres in diameter - or we can work together to create a unique custom solution.

Working with AV integrators

A large proportion of our work is delivered in partnership with AV integrators, especially our work around:

- Innovation hubs
- Immersive meeting rooms
- Data visualisation suites
- Marketing centres
- Boardroom solutions
- C-level presentation facilities
- 360° live-streaming systems

Helping you to land and deliver Shared VR deals

If you work in the AV integration market, we can help you design and specify a standout Shared VR solution, present it to your client, convince them to sign-up, and deliver the installation.

Services we provide include:

- Consultancy and system design
- Documentation for RFQs and tenders
- CAD modelling
- Projector throw calculations and coverage maps
- Off the shelf software and hardware for turnkey solutions
- Custom software development for integrating with custom peripherals
- Ambisonic and spatial sound design

It goes way beyond 360° playback

Igloo Shared VR is so much more than a panoramic, wraparound screen.

The super-smart Igloo systems can integrate with a wider array of technology, there are plenty of ways to engage with XR content, we have plug-ins for real-time game engine content, and we can fit right in with room control systems.

Igloo Vision is the Shared VR company.

From bases in the UK, USA, Canada and Australia, we work with clients worldwide.
